ELECTRICAL SOCKET

Ronald J. Portugal, North Haven, Conn., assignor to Continental Specialties Corporation, New Haven, Conn.

Filed Nov. 8, 1973, Ser. No. 413,919

Term of patent 14 years

Int. Cl. D13-03

U.S. Cl. D26-1 B

FIG. 1 is a top plan view of an electrical socket of my new design;

FIG. 2 is a side elevational view looking from the right of FIG. 1;

FIG. 3 is a bottom plan view of the electrical socket of FIG. 1;

FIG. 4 is a side elevational view of the electrical socket of FIG. 1 looking from the left of FIG. 1;

FIG. 5 is an end view of the electrical socket of FIG. 1, looking from the bottom of FIG. 1, the opposite end view looking from the top of FIG. 1 being substantially identical;

FIG. 6 is a sectional view taken along the line 6-6 of FIG. 1;

FIG. 7 is an enlarged fragmentary sectional view taken along line 7-7 of FIG. 1;

FIG. 8 is an enlarged fragmentary top plan view of the electrical socket;

FIG. 9 is a top plan view of a second embodiment of my invention;

FIG. 10 is a bottom plan view of the electrical socket shown in FIG. 9, it being understood that the side elevational views of this embodiment are substantially identical to the side elevational views as shown in FIGS. 2 and 4; and

FIG. 11 is an end view looking from the top of FIG. 10, the end view looking from the bottom of FIG. 10 being substantially identical.

The front and rear apertures of FIGS. 1, 3, and 9 are partially shown for convenience of illustration, it being understood that the apertures would normally appear in the areas indicated.

I claim:

The ornamental design for an electrical socket, substantially as shown and described.
